Ball State's Davis, Brewster among Indiana's first picked

INDIANAPOLIS – Ball State quarterback Nate Davis has been picked by the San Francisco 49ers in the fifth round of the NFL draft.

Davis led the Cardinals to a 12-0 regular-season record and a second straight postseason bowl appearance before finishing 12-2. He left school after his junior year.

Davis led the Cardinals to a 12-0 regular-season record and a second straight postseason bowl appearance before finishing 12-2. He left school after his junior year and was chosen by the 49ers on Sunday with the 171st overall pick.

The first players with Indiana ties to be taken in the draft were Purdue defensive tackle Alex Magee and Ball State tackle Robert Brewster, both in the third round. Magee went to Kansas City, Brewster to Dallas.