CONSTITUTION OF THE PUERTO RICAN STUDENT ASSOCIATION

PREAMBLE

The academic world provides the opportunity to acquire and share intellectual, cultural, and social experiences that enhance our life and makes us better individuals. These experiences broaden our horizon for a more complete world vision, with the understanding of our reality, and prepare ourselves to face a professional life full of challenges. The great diversity in fields of study, age, ideas and ideologies, cultural and socio-economic backgrounds that the Puerto Rican students, as Latinos, may bring as future members of the Puerto Rican Student Association (PRSA), makes the organization one that will be able to confront the challenges of a multicultural society and should respect and understand the individual opinions and idiosyncrasies. We, the founder officers of the PRSA, understand that the organization is a key instrument in the adaptation process and integral development of Puerto Rican students, which face the academic and professional challenges in the United States of America (USA) and the rest of the world. This is the fundamental reason to develop the PRSA’s constitution and to start our duties at Purdue University in West Lafayette, Indiana, USA, during the fall semester of 2004.

ARTICLE I

Name

The name of this organization is Puerto Rican Student Association

ARTICLE II

Purpose

Section 1

The purpose of the Puerto Rican Student Association (PRSA) shall be the establishment and maintenance of a comfortable environment to students at Purdue University.

Section 2

The PRSA will provide different academic, professional and socio-cultural activities to encourage the discussion of Puerto Rican affairs.

Section 3

The PRSA will sponsor workshops, seminars and conferences of professional development for undergraduate and graduate students.

Section 4

The PRSA will promote links between the community, corporations, and non-profit organizations near the Greater Lafayette surroundings.
Section 5

The PRSA will provide some social and recreational activities to their members.

Section 6

The PRSA is a bilingual (Spanish / English) organization that recognizes and respects the right of individual members to use the language of preference in any circumstance of life. The recommended language of use for academic communications, and for official business with university officials, administrators and organizations should be English, unless stated otherwise. Spanish should be the language of use in meetings and activities in which individual members feel comfortable with and understand the language. English should be used in meetings and activities in which a fraction of the population do not speak or understand Spanish. The PRSA promotes a comfortable environment for efficient communication among members and non-members in which the use of the language of preference should be spontaneous and flexible. The PRSA will not accept an imposition of a specific language at any activity if this is in violation of individual rights.

ARTICLE III
Definition of Membership

Section 1

Amendments

Section 1

Amendments to this Constitution may be created when needed to revise, update, or add to the basic guidelines of the Puerto Rican Student Association.

Section 2

An amendment to this Constitution may be proposed, in writing, at any time to the President.

Section 3

At the next officers meeting, time will be set aside for the proposed amendment to be discussed and debated. If a two-thirds majority feels the proposed amendment should be formally considered, the proposed amendment shall be discussed and debated at the next mandatory meeting of all members or general meeting. If two-thirds of the General Assembly approve, then the newly ratified amendment will be added to the Constitution under the heading List of Amendments.

Section 4

If the proposed amendment is rejected through the above-stated process, it may not be proposed again until the following spring or fall semester.

Section 5

All amendments to the constitution and bylaws are subject to the approval of the Office of the Dean of Students.

BYLAWS

Section 1

The Puerto Rican Student Association, through due process, may create by-laws, within the bounds of the Constitution, to govern itself in an efficient, responsible, and respectable manner.
Section 2

A by-law may be proposed by any member of the organization and be presented, in writing to the executive board.

Section 3

The officers may recommend action on a proposal to the members. The officers alone do not have the right to table or kill a proposal.

Section 4

Time will be set aside for the proposal to be read and debated at the next regularly scheduled meeting of the organization. The proposal then shall be voted on. If approved by a two-thirds majority of the members present, the proposal shall become a by-law of the organization. The officers reserve the right to amend the proposal.

Section 5

The officers shall determine the constitutionality of a proposal or by-law absolutely. If a majority of officer members find evidence of the unconstitutionality of a proposed by-law, the proposed by-law is immediately voided.
