

Senator Lugar's Energy Summit

On Friday, September 18, 2009, at the Indianapolis Museum of Art, Purdue Student Government representatives, including Student Body President Adam Kline and Executive Director of Governmental Relations Will Baldwin, attended Senator Lugar's Energy Summit Conference. The conference allowed students from universities across the state to, at no cost, come together and engage in discussion regarding the pursuit of a sustainable way of life. The conference permitted student leaders to network with one another and share their differing "green" initiatives. The discussions pertained to life beyond college as well. The conference was very beneficial and worthwhile for Purdue Student Government. There was panel discussion, and workshops, as well as a speech and question and answer session by Senator Lugar. Attending this conference helped to create new opportunities and ideas for Purdue Student Government and Purdue University as we all work towards an environmentally safe campus.
