

April in Indiana

Phyllis Gobreski

Such lovely signs of spring accent the land
As warm and cold days skip by hand-in-hand.
Bright crocus petals show up overnight,
Shy little pansies smile to our delight.

Overhead, magnolias put on their show,
While tulip heads beneath nod to and fro.
Perfume of hyacinth assails the senses,
Armies of dandelions march through fences.

Applause! Applause! the overture begins.
Sweet melody of robins, cardinals, wrens
Join the buzzing bees and the humming birds.
— An April concert too perfect for words.

Information and Poem Submission:

Words on the Go
638 North Street
Lafayette, IN 47901-1153

Questions?
wordsgo@hotmail.com
<http://www.gocitybus.com/wordsonthego>

Volume 1, Edition 2
Designed by Jennifer A. Neese 2006

