

My current work in community/urban studies is focused primarily on Reconstruction Georgia, 1868-1880. A book manuscript is currently being reviewed, under the terms of a pre-publication contract with the University of Georgia press. My published works should be readily available in libraries or available in better bookstores. Copies of unpublished papers are available on request. There are, at present (February 2020) no additional papers under review, but when there is more to report, titles and citations will be added.

Recent Publications on Community Politics

Hogan, Richard, "Outrages: Contention, Vigilantism, or Lynching? Accounting for Racial Violence in Biased Sources." International Journal of Contemporary Sociology, 2018, Volume 54, No. 2 (October): 87-114.

Hogan, Richard, "Tunis G. Campbell, Sr. (1812-1891)," Journal of African American Studies 2014, 18 (December):409-416.

Hogan, Richard, "Resisting Redemption: The Republican Vote in 1876 Georgia" Social Science History 2011, 35, 2:133-166.

Hogan, Richard, "Fostering Versus Imposing Democracy: Lessons from One Case Where Reconstruction Actually Worked." International Journal of the Humanities, Volume 5 (2007), No. 3, pp. 123-130.

Hogan, Richard, The Failure of Planning: Permitting Sprawl in San Diego Suburbs, 1970-1999. Ohio State University Press, 2003.

Hogan, Richard, "Do Citizen Initiatives Affect Growth? The Case of Five San Diego Suburbs." In Dan A. Chekki (editor), Research in Community Sociology, Vol. 7, Greenwich, CT: JAI, 1997.

Recent Lectures and Presentations on Community Politics

"Do Interests and Organizations Matter? Lynching and KKK Events in Indiana, 1858-1930." Presented at American Sociology Association Meetings, Seattle, WA, August 2016.

"Terrorism in the Heartland: Vigilantism, Lynching, and the Klan in Indiana, 1858-1930." Presented at Indiana Association of Social Sciences Meeting, Evansville, IN, November 2015.

"In the Wake of Sherman: Tunis G. Campbell and the Georgia Freedmen." Presented at the Tippecanoe County Civil War Roundtable, West Lafayette, IN, November 2012.

"Race, Place, and Repertoire Change in U.S. Lynching, 1830-1930." Presented at Social Science History Meetings, Vancouver, Canada, November 2012.

"Growth, Sprawl, and the Contradictions of Capitalism: San Diego Suburbs and the Speculative Frenzy, 1970-1991." American Sociological Association, Boston, MA, August 2008.

"Fostering Versus Imposing Democracy: Lessons from One Case Where Reconstruction Actually Worked." Fifth International Conference on New Directions in the Humanities, American University of Paris, France, 17 July 2007.

"Validity, Reliability and the Case Study: The Case of the Black Middle Class in Darien, Georgia, 1870," American Sociological Association, Montreal, Canada, August 2006

"The Failure of Planning: Permitting Sprawl in San Diego Suburbs." Invited lecture, the Nohad A. Toulan School of Urban Studies and Planning, College of Urban and Public Affairs, Portland State University, Portland, Oregon, November 2005.

"San Diego Suburbs and the Postmodern Mythology of Successful Planning," Social Science History Association, Portland, Oregon, November 2005.